JOEY WAS COMING TO GET ME AND I COULDN'T DO ANYTHING

"THAT OLD

ABOUT IT..."

Overall Expectations

The students will:

- develop their skills in reading, writing, listening, and oral communication.
- use good literature as a vehicle for developing skills required by curriculum expectations: reasoning and critical thinking, knowledge of language structure, vocabulary building, and use of conventions.
- become meaningfully engaged in the drama of literature through a variety of types of questions and activities.
- identify and describe elements of stories (i.e., plot, main idea, characters, setting).
- learn and review many skills in order to develop good reading habits.
- provide clear answers to questions and well-constructed explanations.
- organize and classify information to clarify thinking.
- learn about: character development/growth, self-acceptance, living with the shortcomings of others (i.e., one's parents), family relationships, the dangers of smoking and alcohol.
- relate events and the feelings of characters found in the novel to their own lives and experiences.
- learn from a first person perspective the challenges of being an individual with special needs (ADHD - Attention-Deficit, Hyperactive Disorder).
- appreciate that the growth of one's character is often the result of trials that come into one's life.
- learn the importance of dealing with adversity and developing perseverance in the face of difficult experiences.
- state their own interpretation of a written work, using evidence from the novel and from their own knowledge and experience.

JOEY WAS COMING TO GET ME AND I COULDN'T DO ANYTHING

"THAT OLD

ABOUT IT..."

BEFORE YOU READ THE CHAPTER:

Chapter 1

Joey Pigza's parents are separated. Usually he lives with his mother, but as the novel opens we learn that he is to spend the next six weeks with his dad – a man he doesn't know all that well. Imagine you are Joey for a moment and describe what you think might be going through his mind as he and his mother drive to the town where his father lives.
